Coordinator's

Greetings fellow Alum!

The last few months have been a time of change at Redeemer College, and the alumni office is no exception.

Michael Hoekstra (whose cheerful salutation I have borrowed), has left the College to pursue other interests.

Mike has taken a position with the Christian Labour Association of Canada in his hometown of Chatham, Ontario. On behalf of the Alumni Board, I would like to take this opportunity to wish him and his family all of the best in their new calling, and to thank him for all the work that he has done for the Alumni Association.

Mike often talked about leading the Alumni Association out of its infancy; it may not have reached adulthood yet, but thanks to Mike's leadership and energy, the Alumni Association is certainly out of its diapers. Again, thanks Mike, for your contributions to Redeemer College.

That leaves me with the unenviable task of trying to fill the shoes he left behind as the Alumni Affairs Coordinator. I, by the way, am Tim Wolfert, Class of 1987. After graduating from Redeemer, I finished the teacher education program at Calvin College. From there it was off to Breslau, Ontario where I taught geography (and a host of other things) for three years at Woodland Christian High School. Looking for a 'change of pace', I accepted this position in August of this year.

The primary responsibility of the Alumni Affairs Coordinator is to foster enthusiasm for, and support of the College by alumni through personal verbal or written contact. From my perspective, this means getting the alumni more involved in the different aspects of the College. Support and enthusiasm can only be increased when the alumni feel that they are an important part of a community.

How are we to improve that sense of community? For me, it will mean keeping the alumni informed of what is happening at Redeemer College and what our fellow alum are up to. It will also mean planning events that give the alumni a chance to participate in that community.

To that end, the Alumni Board and Redeemer College are planning Homecoming '92, a celebration to mark the 10th anniversary of Redeemer College. Mark the weekend of September 25-27 on your calendar for the first alumni reunion. More information will follow in upcoming Images.

If you have any ideas or suggestions, either about this event or any other aspect of the Alumni Association, please feel free to contact me at the College – after all, it is your Alumni Association.

Until next time,
Tim ○

A Message From the Alumni Board

by Gerard Kuntz, President

Homecoming

The board of the Alumni Association has shifted into high gear with the planning of Homecoming '92. We are excited about the possibilities of that weekend. We hope you will be there to see old faces and to celebrate the ten years of existence of a remarkable institution.

New Alumni Coordinator

Tim Wolfert was hired as Alumni Affairs Coordinator this past summer. We welcome him to the position which has stood vacant since Mike Hoekstra resigned last spring.

Tim's presence is essential to the workings of the Alumni Association. He serves as our liaison with the college and does the lion's share of the legwork for Alumni Affairs. Tim is gung ho to see alumni assume a greater role in the college, and we as Board stand behind him.

The Brookview Question

The most notable happening at Redeemer has of course been the collapse of the Brookview Trust. Over the summer details of the collapse have been revealed as they became available both in news releases from Rev. De Bolster, and in articles in such publications as Calvinist Contact. The upshot of these revelations is that the faculty and the Student Senate both sent motions of non-confidence in the financial administration of the College, to the Board of Governors.

The Alumni Association Board discussed this matter at a meeting on September 13th. Rick De Graaf, Redeemer's Community Relations Director, explained how the legalities of the trust prevented full revelation of the details thus leading to some of the discontent over what may have seemed to be a cover-up. We discussed the situation at length and concluded that while we have sympathy for the faculty and the Student Senate positions it would be inappropriate and possibly counter-productive for the Alumni Association to make a similar statement.

We agreed that this matter has dragged out long enough. Recognizing the positive steps being taken by the president and by the Board of Governors, it is not our place to be dragging elements of Redeemer College through the mud. To this end we drafted a formal statement to Rev. De Bolster which will be discussed with him after this issue of Images goes to print.

The statement reads:

The Alumni Board of Redeemer College, recognizing the present difficulties that have resulted from the failure of the Brookview Trust, supports the president's initiative in creating the Task Force and Strategic Planning Committee looking into the restructuring of the Administration of Redeemer College.

As alumni, we believe we have a valuable contribution to make to both of these committees based on our present involvement and past experiences with the college. Therefore we respectfully request representation on these committees. We wish you God's blessing as you do the work of the College, and we look forward to your response.

We would like to remind the alumni that the value of Redeemer College lies in its academics. We are confident that the College will come out of this experience stronger than before. ○

Alumni Leadership Award and the winner is . . .

Mary Ann Ypma is both surprised and elated to receive this year's Alumni Leadership Award. She is elated because the $500 award could not have come at a better time financially (as an out-of-province student from Taber, Alberta, she is not eligible for provincial student assistance).

She is surprised because, in her words, she belongs to "a really dynamic graduating class." She was competing with some very deserving classmates and feels it is a real honour to receive the award.

The Redeemer College Alumni

Association confers the Alumni Leadership Award annually to a student entering his or her final year of study. Applicants are judged for their contribution to Redeemer College through volunteer and extra-curricular activities and must maintain a G.P.A. of 7.0 (B-) or better.

When you see Mary Ann's list of activities you know why she was chosen. She is currently in her second year with Connections, Redeemer's music ministry team; a co-editor of the yearbook; a peer advisor to a group of six first-year students; and is a varsity volleyball player. Volleyball is her favourite extra-curricular activity.

She has served as Resident Assistant (R.A.) in her second and third years at Redeemer and is presently a Housing Assistant (H.A.). She played in The Madwomen of Chaillot (1st year); was one of the Black Box Players (1st and 2nd years); led fellowship hour (2nd year); and worked on Project Serve in Haiti (2nd year).

Mary Ann is in the elementary education program and hopes to be teaching in a Christian school somewhere in Ontario at this time next year. ○

Career Fair

Mark Garner, assistant dean of students, is putting together a Career Fair at Redeemer College on Monday, January 27, 1992.

He is looking especially for alumni participation. If you are at all interested in talking to students about your profession (no matter what it might be), please give him a call at the college.

This is a great opportunity to show off the value of your education at Redeemer College, and to give something back to the school.
